

The heatmap displays a 16x16 matrix with a color scale from dark blue to bright red. The diagonal elements are bright red, indicating high self-similarity. The matrix shows a block-like structure with varying intensities of red and blue across the quadrants.

